

Obtaining an Extinguishing Agent Handling Licence (EAHL) Qualified Persons (Entitlement 1-5)

From 1 December 2014, it will be mandatory for any person who handles ODS & SGG extinguishing agents to have gained the necessary qualifications to be able to transition to the appropriate EAHL - Qualified Persons.

To obtain a Qualified Persons licence you must demonstrate competence in the required units as listed in Table 322 of the Ozone Protection and Synthetic Greenhouse Gas Management Regulations 1995.

New applicants will be allowed to apply for a Trainee EAHL (valid for a period of 12 months) to undertake the required training and assessment (Entitlement 1-5) enabling the person sufficient time to complete their training requirements. Once a trainee has completed the training and assessment modules successfully, they will be able to convert their trainee licence to a Qualified Persons EAHL.

The Board will also undertake a gradual phase in of EAHL - Qualified Persons (Entitlement 6) through 2014.

Obtaining a Qualified Persons Licence

Step One

Contact a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) that offers the units of competency specified for the Qualified Persons licence you require and talk to them about:

- Applying for partial or full Recognition of Prior Learning; or
- Completing a program of 'gap' or whole of unit training; or
- A combination of both of the above.

To find Registered Training Organisations that may be able to help:

1. Type www.fpib.com.au/ into a web browser and press Enter.

The Fire Protection Industry (ODS & SGG) Board page appears

2. On the left side, click RTO tab:

The Registered Training Organisations page appears.

View the list of registered training organisations that deliver the units of competency required for Qualified Persons licences 1, 2, 3, 4 or 5.

3. Contact your selected registered training organisation to discuss the next step in the process to obtain necessary units of competency.

Step Two

Submit your application, together with certified copies of one or more Statements of Attainment listing all the units of competency required for the Qualified Persons Licence you need, to:
